Non-Religious Funerals and Memorials - Humanist Funerals Whilst a funeral director is the professional most likely to deal with the practical arrangements of a funeral, what type of ceremony you choose is entirely up to you. And since funerals themselves have no legal status, humanist funerals â€“ like all others â€“ can be held in a variety of places, although in practice most are held in crematoria. What happens at a humanist funeral ceremony? Each humanist (non-religious) funeral ceremony is unique and created to mark the life of the particular person that has died and the wishes of those who are remembering them. This means there is no set script. However, having a clear structure to organise the funeral around is very helpful. This is an example of how a funeral ceremony might be organised.
